

DRINK DEEPLY FROM GOOD BOOKS

- The poetry Coach Wooden’s father read to him instilled a love of reading, English, books and knowledge.
- Reading was a priceless gift that enhanced his life.
- Coach Wooden learned that the quality of the output of a person’s life was directly impacted by the quality of the input in ones life.
- Poetry, biographies, and other great books provide high quality input that will enhance your learning, stimulate your thinking, and improve your outlook on life.
- Drink deeply from great books of your own choosing. You will enrich yourself, and increase your opportunities to enrich the lives of others.

EXERCISE: Identify the primary sources of “input”, in your life today, and how those sources are impacting your thinking and the “output” of your life.

SOURCES OF INPUT	IMPACT
BOOKS
INTERNET
LESSONS FROM OTHERS
TELEVISION PROGRAMS
SERIOUS STUDY
OTHER SOURCES

Coach Wooden said:

“It’s what you learn after you know it all that counts.”

We all must be willing to change – to improve. Be observant of others and pick up their best habits and get better.
