

The most important word in our language is love and the second most important word is balance. (Part One Love)

Describe three people and or situations you are currently angry or unhappy about.

---

---

---

How could you respond with love to them (RWL) and turn them around?

---

---

---

What were the results? Is this an idea you would like to share with others?

---

---

---