

You cannot truly be judged by what others say about you, but you can be judged by what you say about others.

Describe a person you know or have known that never has an unkind word to say about anybody.

---

---

---

What would be the benefits of acting in this manner?

---

---

---

What are the benefits of making negative comments about other people?

---

---

---