

Be Quick but Don't Hurry

Describe a person you know or have known who never seems like they are in a hurry (rushed) but yet is very engaged and performs at a high level when the pressure is on.

How does that person's calmness affect everyone else?

Could you improve in this regard in some situations? If so what behaviors would you change?
