

Valid self-analysis means improvement.

Describe a person you know or have known who is very open to being self critical without losing confidence? How do they demonstrate that?

---

---

---

How does this impact your opinion and eagerness to work with this person?

---

---

---

How could you go about doing self analysis? How often would you do it? How would you act on the results?

---

---

---