

Time spent getting even would be better spent trying to get ahead.

What does this statement mean to you? Does it have value ...Why?

Give an example of a time you ignored ill will or a negative action directed at you and just moved on. Would you have been better off trying to even things up? If not. Why?

How does this perspective affect how your view on how you should respond to people who are not nice to you?
