

Coaching Mistakes

All of us act as coaches in one way or another in our daily interactions with others. What do you think are your greatest strengths in this area?

Where do you think you can improve the most?

What qualities do you admire most in a coach? How could you add them to your own character if you don't have them already?
