

Just being better than the rest doesn't make you a success.

What does this statement mean to you?

---

---

---

How would this attitude impact your approach towards measuring your personal levels of achievement?

---

---

---

How would you communicate this approach to a group? How would this impact setting goals and how the team would react when it reached or didn't reach a goal.

---

---

---