

You must be present to coach.

What are your thoughts on this idea?

---

---

---

Describe a leader who you work with or have worked with who was or wasn't present to coach? What was/is the impact?

---

---

---

How does this idea impact the concept of balancing text and email communication with in person or telephone communication? Is there a part of your life where you could get better balance in that area?

---

---

---

---