

Don't give the team too much, but teach well.

What does this statement mean to you?

How can you resolve the need for attention to detail and the challenge of not giving the team too much?

Describe a teacher or Coach that you have had who was able to teach or coach effectively but was able to do it without making things too complicated or destroying initiative? How did he or she do it?
