Use language to create a positive perspective for yourself and others.

What does the idea: "Use language to create a positive perspective for yourself and others." mean to you?

_____

_____

_____

Give a specific example when you or somebody else has used positive language to create a positive perspective on a challenging situation.

_____

_____

_____

What situations do you currently deal with where you could use positive language to create a better perspective?

_____

_____

_____

_____