

Accountability as a Privilege, Not an Obligation

What does: "Accountability as a Privilege, Not an Obligation" mean to you? Please give a practical example.

What does: "Be more concerned with what you can do for others than what others can do for you. You'll be surprised at the results." mean to you? How does it fit in here?

"As long as you try your best, you are never a failure. That is, unless you blame others." How does this fit in with accountability?
