

If you sacrifice principle trying to please everyone, you end up pleasing no one:

Describe a situation where you or somebody you know dealt with a situation, professionally or personally, and stuck to their principles although it was difficult:

---

---

---

How did you or the person who did this communicate their position?

---

---

---

What was the result?

---

---

---