

The person who usually does what he pleases is seldom pleased with what he does.

What does this statement mean to you?

---

---

---

How could you apply this idea in terms of prioritizing your daily activities?

---

---

---

Who could you share this idea with and have it be a positive influence on changing the way they prioritize their daily duties?

---

---

---