

Be a great mentor: Advice and Opinions

What is the difference between giving somebody advice as opposed to your opinion?

What would be the benefit of giving somebody you are mentoring your opinion as opposed to advice?

What does this idea have to do with Coach Wooden's idea that one of the most important traits a great leader must have is that he is or she is true to themselves?
