

The Level Five Listener

How do you make sure the person you are talking with leaves the conversation with the point you were trying to get across?

What is the value of pausing briefly before you answer a question?

What is the value of answering a question with another question?
